"Rockabye," starring Constance Bennett, stresses the theme away from her when she is volved in a murder case.

Joel McCrea is the young playbest friend and admirer who wins her in the end.

Jobyna Howland enacts the role of the mother, jand provides the honour in the picture. She is full of spirits in more senses than one. This picture was directed George Cuker, and is rather usual,

She plays opposite that star of so many light and comedy dramas, Robert Montgomery, but in this picture there is more of grim reality and less of the romantic lightheartlot for so long.

A wealthy and care-free girl squanders away her fortune faces poverty still refusing to putlove before dollars and marry the popular German star, portrays a young man who wants her to live stenographer. These two provide on $20,000 a year. At length she is willing but things have changed and Bill Wade, an advertisement artist is out of a job.

The girl accepts the comfort and wealth of a middle-aged man in search of romance, but soon tires of it when Bill comes on the scene and the two get married and share tremendous hardships, finding their happiness at last.

The moral of the story, which is about the first real attempt to draw romance out of the hardships of present days conditions, is that the test of matrimony is sacrifice.

Typically English with its humour, "Mischief" provides a welcome change for the jaded cinema-goer, and is totally different and twice as funny as any picture we have seen lately.

THE STORY BEGAN.

DOOM No. 105 on the S.S. Kamtschatka, in which Mr. Brisbane, the narrator, is voyaging across the Atlantic, has the reputation of being haunted. On the last three trips persons sleeping there have gone overboard, and on this passage the narator's room-male, occupying the upper berth, has vanished. Brisbane, determined not to be scared away, insists on continuing to occupy the lower berth in No. 105, and refuses an offer by the ship's doctor to share his cabin. The porthole, however, tightly screwed down, always opens mysteriously. Brisbane awakes in the night to find the porthole wide open again. He hears a groan, and, tearing the curtain of the upper borth aside, thrusts in his hands "to discover if there were anyone there." There was

JACK DOYLE IMPROVES UNDER DESCAMPS

Intensive Training In Paris.

CHALLENGING PETERSEN

London, Mar. 31.

Jack Doyle, who some claim as future heavy-weight champion of the world, returned to London recently after nine weeks of training near Paris under Francois Des-

"The trip has done me a lot of good," he said on arrival in England, "I am glad to be back in London only if it is going to get me a fight. I have found the punch that is going to win me a world's title. I am sure of that."

Qualified observers at Descamps' sider that the expert tuition afforded Doyle has worked wonders and it will be interesting to see how the Irishman shapes in his next appearance in the ring.

There was certainly room for improvement in Doyle's work when he left this country. He has splendid physique and a natural punch in either hand. But he had no defence. His general ringcraft was extremely crude.

Doyle is anxious to challenge Jack Petersen for the British heavy-weight title. Promoters are already angling for the match because both men are recognized box-office attractions.

Before such a contest is staged the advance of Kecton, who gave Inter-School Sports (Caroline Hill) it will be necessary for Doyle to such promise last year as an open-Billiards—Soldiers' Club Tournament re-establish himself in the eyes of the British public after his several months' absence from the ring.
